THE TROUBLESOME MOTH.

How to Deal With This Destroying Insect in Furniture and Carpets.

Furniture is one of the favorite hiding places of moths. The worms seldom attack the covering, the hair constituting much better food. Benzine and liquids of a like character are frequently used to drive out the pests. This softens the hair and is at best uncertain. Upholstered furniture should be treated each spring with a mixture of borax and powdered tobacco leaves. By removing a few ticks from the bottom covering a half ounce or so of the powder is easily dusted in. This will effectually preserve the hair from attack. The outside covering of furniture not in use during the summer is best protected by being dusted with borax and then completely covered with old newspapers. Furs, being worn only during part of each year, are exceedingly subject to destruction by moths. A cedar closet or chest is usually considered proof against attack. It is, however, of little avail if the moth eggs have been deposited in an article previous to its packing away. Beating ruins fur and does comparatively little toward removing the eggs, which are laid at the root of the hair, where the natural grease of the animal is most abundant.

Hot, dry air is the most effective means of destroying moth eggs. Materials to be treated should be hung on chairs in a small room heated by furnace or steam. Windows and doors being closed, the drafts are turned on full force. From 24 to 48 hours of this treatment will be necessary, according to the temperature and dryness of the air. By the end of that time embryo insects will be dead. The eggs may then be removed by brushing. If cedar chests are available, the furs must be sprinkled with borax, wrapped in newspaper and packed in a tight trunk or box, which should not be opened again until all its contents can be removed.

Whenever possible, carpets should be subjected to the purifying influence of heat and dry air, then sprinkled with finely powdered tobacco and borax. It is well to cover them with crash during the summer. If this is done, the powder may be left on. If covering is impracticable, the mixture should be brushed off lightly after 24 hours. Enough will remain in the nap to prove an effective safeguard. Curtains, portieres and other hangings may be treated in a similar manner.

How Captain Cook Was Killed.

He fell a victim to the sudden resentment of the natives of Owhyhee, or Hawaii, on Feb. 14, 1779, having discovered the island the previous year. A boat having been stolen by one of the islanders, the captain went on shore to seize the king and keep him as a hostage till the boat was restored. The people would not submit to this insult, and their resistance brought on hostilities, during which Captain Cook and some of his companions were killed.

How to Make Use of Ammonia.

A few drops of ammonia in a cupful of warm water, carefully applied, will remove spots from paintings as well as from frames.

Nothing will so quickly clean and polish the spigots of sinks and bathtubs as a little ammonia and suds mixed with the fine ashes from the ash fine of the range.

Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine will take paint out of clothing, even if it be hard and dry. Saturate the spots as often as necessary and wash out in warm suds.

Put a tablespoonful of ammonia in a quart of water, wash your brushes and combs in this, and all the grease and dirt will disappear. Rinse, shake and dry in the sun or by the fire.

How to Clean a Gostakin Rug.

They can be cleaned by washing or with naphtha.

Wet a small part of the rug with naphtha and rub with a soft cloth until that space is clean, then clean another place, continuing until the entire rug has been treated in this way. Hang in the air until the odor has disappeared. Take care that no gas is lit in the room while the naphtha is being used.

To wash the rug, put into a tub about four gallons of tepid water and half a pint of household ammonia. Let the rug soak in this for about half an hour, soaping it up and down in the water frequently. Rinse in several tepid waters and hang on the line to dry; if possible, in a shady place. Select a windy day for this work. Even with the greatest care the skin will become hard when washed. Rubbing it between the hands tends to soften it, or it may be folded lengthwise, the fur side in, and then be passed through the clothes wringer several times. This, of course, should be done only when the rug is dry.

Buggies and Phaetons.

Gus Schuman begs to inform the public that he has on hand a fine new line of Surreys, Buggies, Phaetons, Road Wagons and Carts; Double and Single Buggy, Express and Hack Harness made specially for the Hawaiian trade. These goods are now on exhibition at the Club Stables.

It's one thing to take an order for a portrait and quite another to fill it satisfactorily. King Bros' portraits have always been known to give satisfaction and now that they have reduced their prices so low, an extra inducement is offered. See what they have before you invest.
